Idaho Falls will experience similar conditions all this summer as this session of Congress. The solution is not to comfort in tangible benefits beyond good work for coolie wages.

In the meantime, everyone can rest assured that the big water project is in capable hands. City commissioners have the advice of one of the top water engi neering firms available. In addition, everyone should be well aware by now that City Manager Derrick is an efficient administrator and Paul Newton is well qualified for his duties as city engineer. And everyone knows water improvement is just a matter of time now.

WASHINGTON It is not surprising that President Johnson has endorsed his proposal to ban so-called "right-to-work" laws with few and faint words. Repeal of Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act is not the solution to a national problem for which Big Business and Big Labor share the blame.

In his labor message. Johnson

In his labor message, Johnson went into considerable detail concerning his other recommendations—a boost in the minimum wage and overtime pay; and changes in the unemployment invurance program But he merely asked for repeal of Section 14 (b) without attempting to justify his request.

Nineteen states now ban the closed unlon shop. In other words, they do not require that a worker join a labor union in order to hold his job in a plant where the union is operating. But it is a misnomer to call this legislation a "right-to-work" law. In most states, it is used to give Big Business another weapon in its struggle with Big Labor for control of the

If Idaho Falls spends the whole summer on a project costing less than a tenth of the local plans, it's easy to see why it will take two years or more here.

The Idaho Falls project, by the way, is part of a program costing more than half a million dollars with the view of securing lower fire insurance rates for Idaho Falls residents. That will be one of the byproducts of the local water project, of course. Some residents may find comfort in tangible benefits beyond good

Twin Falls County Sheriff, Deputies Have Widespread Area to Patrol

BY MIKE McGREER
"It's a lonley job at times, but nobody could find a better one," a Twin Falls County deputy sheriff said in describing his work.

The sometimes lonely and The sometimes lonely and dangerous job of protecting the 42,000 people in Twin Falls county is the task of County Sheriff James H. Benham and us 12 deputies.
In addition to Sheriff Benham seven of the deputies patrol the 1,942 square miles in Twin Falls county and part of Owyhee

Increase in Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increasing number of Viet Cong prisoners being taken, shown in Defense Department reports available Saturday, may reflect in part results of psychological warfare.

Experts said the expanding program using airborne loudspeakers, leaflet drops and radio broadcasts may be a factor in the growing number of prisoners brought into South Viet Nam lines.

They point out that it is difficult to determine whether a prisoner is captured before he can flee or whether he permits himself to be taken without a fight.

The increase in prisoners is in addition to what is reported as an upswing in the number of defectors from the Viet Cong. However, no firm figures on defector totals are available

The upward trend in the prisoner count and defections is in addition to what U.S. military men see as another indication of dissatisfaction in Viet Cong operations.

Attocity and terrorism attributed to the Viet Cong have increased sharply in recent months, statistics received here indicate. This is viewed as indication that the Viet Cong, finding increased neutralism or friendliness to the South Vietnamese cause among villagers, have intensified the execution have intensified the execution program.

One official said that the numone official said that the number of village chiefs slain by the Viet Cong approaches an average of one a day, plus slayings of others individually or in groups.

The monthly total of prisoners captured, while still not large in over-all figures, has increased dramatically.

In August 1964 statistics show the monthly total was 200; by January of this year it had climbed to 585. Then the seasonclimbed to 585. Then the seasonal slump in military action set in as harvest time began and the total fell to 335 by March. But by last month the total had climbed back to 540.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increasing number of Viet Congprisoners being taken, shown in Defense Department reports available Saturday, may reflect in part results of psychological in part results of psychological warfare.
Experts said the expanding

Experts said the expanding program using airborne loud-speakers, leaflet drops and radio broadcasts may be a factor in the growing number of prisoners, brought into South Viet Nam lines.

They point out that it is difficult to determine whether a prisoner is captured before he can flee or whether he permits himself to be taken without a fight.

On June 1st, 1905, in the building pictured above, the Twin Falls Bank & Trust opened for business - with a handful of customers and great confidence in the future grouth of southern Idaho. It was the year Theodore Roosevelt was re-elected President . . . the year the Tuin Falls News began publication . . . and the year the first train rolled into Twin Falls.

Sixty years later, on June 1st, 1965, the Bank & Trust has grown along with the Magic Valley it helped develop, and now serves thousands of customers from three modern banking facilities in Twin Falls and Kimberly. Full banking services and the experienced counsel of professional bankers have built the Bank & Trust's reputation as 'The Bank to Grow With.' Now, over $25 million strong, it remains dedicated to the continuing development of the Magic Valley area it serves.

Getting to Know You Theme Used for Social

By NORMA HERZINGER Women's Page Editor

"Getting to Know You" was the theme of a unique social at the Blue Lakes Country Club in honor of 65 new members. The unusualness of the party was that the new members were hosts for the old members.

The event began with a cocktail party in the Round Room. Each long-time member was given a booklet with a list of the names of all newcomers. As an icebreaker, and a very successful one at that, all new members had to initial their names in the booklets. Honored guests wore name tags of large musical notes so were not too difficult to recognize.

It is most embarrassing to meet a person for the second time and fail to recall a name, so perhaps this get-acquainted method, where the names are listed, will prove helpful at future socials.

A buffet, prepared by the Blue Lakes Country Club chef, "Bud" Smith, was served in the dining room. Guests were seated at tables covered with white and centered with miniature golf greens, complete with golf tee, ball and flag.

Gordon Beckstead was master of ceremonies for the program. Humorous gifts were presented to the officers and members of the board of directors.

Members danced to the music of the Allen DeVries

Orchestra. An exchange dance was one of the features, which again proved to be a very good mixer. Co-chairmen of this event include Mr. and Mrs. Larry Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead and Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Harvey. Officers of the Blue Lakes Country Club are David Barry, president; Dr. George Davis, vice president; Vern Riddle, secretary-treasurer, and Jack Mullowney, house chairman.

Members of the board of directors are James E. Phelps, Victor Flislet, John Roper, Carl Berg, Ross Bevan and J. D. Claiborn, Charles Sieber is manager of the Blue Lakes Country Club.

Reclamation of arid land in this area has never progressed more rapidly than during recent years. It's taking place by individual enterprise and pumping.

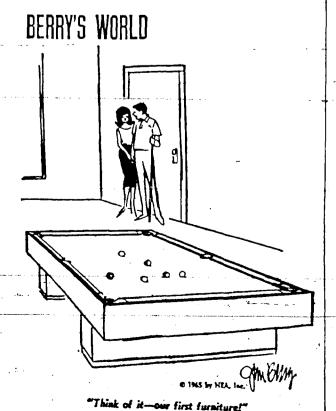

Fully one-third of the total irrigated acreage in the valley has been made productive by pumps - raising water from deep wells or from rivers. The million plus acres added to the economy in this fashion represents a 50% increase in irrigated land within the brief span of 20 years. Best of all this expansion continues to take place at an average rate of more than 50,000 acres per year.

Abundant, low-cost electric power makes this development possible - and profitable.

Electric rates here for pumping are lower than for any other concentrated irrigation area in the United States, and have made pumping lifts of more than 600 feet economically feasible.

If you haven't seen some of the far-flung tracts of newly reclaimed land with their bountiful yields of potatoes, sugar beets, grains and seed - you are missing an eyeful. You can see them on a Sunday drive in various parts of the Snake River Valley.

Some three million additional acres of sage-covered desert stand as the potential for further expansion of pump-irrigated agriculture. Children and grandchildren of the present generation will see their development.

Gubner Nearly Upsets Champion

LOS ANGELES, (UPI) —
Gary Gubner seems to have made the transition from shot putting to weight lifting quite well.

The massive New Yorker nearly defeated Olympic veteran Norber; Schemansky of Dearborn, Mich., Friday night in the heavyweight division of the Amateur Athletic Union competition here.

Gubner lifted the same weight.
1,155 pounds, as Schemansky, but was raaced second by body weight. The lighter man wins in case of a tie and Gary outweighed his competitor, 282-260.

Life in AAGIC VALLEY

Most artists do their own painting, but once Keith Hunter, former OAKLEY and TWIN FALLS resident and now Long Beach, Calif., painter, had a donkey paint a picture for him. It all began as a gag concerning modern art about which he isn't too enthusiastic. A few friends kept asking him why he didn't paint modern art, so he decided to turn the donkey's tail toward the canvas, dipped the tail in the paint and hoped it would hit the canvas. A local newspaper carried the picture with the caption, "Any jackass could paint a picture like this, Hunter says, and he proves it by bribling his donkey to tail-paint this horror."

scapes and landscapes but they are the kind of pictures that wait to be sold where portraits are almost as good as sold before they are even started.

He allows two or three weeks on each one as it takes time to draw the outline on a separate piece of paper, trace it onto the canvas, block in the general form and put the finishing touches on it.

The motorhoat is the visible enemy. But the real foe is modern life. The average tourist on a quick economy trip might take a brief ride in a gondola. But most don't want to spend their limited time or budget dawdling about in a gondola when they can go faster and farcheaper in a motorboat bus.

VENICE, Italy (AP) — Giovanni Barugolo, 36 years in the business, stared out at his empty gondola bobbing on its line in the backwash of a passing motorboat and said:

"I'm a gondolier. My father was and so was his father and grandfather before him. But I promise you my son won't be. He'll go into something where he can make a decent living."

That's the general complaint today of Venetian gondoliers, as small band of holdouts practicing an antique unneeded trade of slowness and grace in a hurry-up age of quick trips and mechanized transport.

"You won't believe it," sald Lugi de Rossi, a gondolier for 44 years, "but I haven't had a fare in two weeks. The future?

As I went over to question the driver of the car that had followed Louie the Letterbox, the motor started.

After dropping off Louie at his hotel, I checked out the license number of the car that nearly hit me.

HMM... WALLINGTON KNIFTER, Z EMPLOYED BY THE ALONZO PAVING COMPANY!

Meanwhile, Louie the Letterbox found a visitor waiting in his room.
